Taylor Jacobson, Development Manager

Taylor is a 12-year veteran of the construction team at Graham that has taken her knowledge of finance and project development to support clients in getting their visions to reality. Her practical knowledge of the development process and creative approach to finding solutions have made her a leader in leading projects from start to finish.

Zeon Billy, Director, Infrastructure Finance and Investments

Zeon leads Graham Capital's finance team, overseeing all aspects of project finance, financial advisory and equity investing. His experience as advisory for Public-Private Partnership (P3) projects, including business case development and project delivery, provide a foundation for understanding both the private lending and public development opportunities that are available to support projects.

Darren Boyde, Development Manager

Darren brings 15+ years of industry knowledge in the planning, pricing, development and leadership of projects – primarily in social infrastructure, including senior's care, education, and health care projects. His experience in a multitude of project deliveries help him to provide the right solutions that are tailored for each project's unique needs.
